Going Green!

As you can imagine, the amount of waste generated by a beauty salon is quite immense, and here at Second Nature we have long been concerned about our environmental impact. We are pleased to announce that just about all our waste from paper to plastics is now recycled. We have also replaced most of our light bulbs with low energy ones, so hopefully we are keeping the planet as well as our clients more beautiful.

I have a couple of parties that I need to attend straight from work. How can I quickly glam up my party look?

Looks like smoky eyes are great for parties, but can be tricky when time is tight, and the only lighting is the office loos! A better way to add glamour quickly is by focusing on lips, pairing a brighter lip colour with a more neutral eye. First blot your face to remove any shine, and top up your foundation sparingly. A mineral powder is best for this as it won't cake. Next use a liner pencil in dark grey, chocolate or black if you are dark, and draw a slim line along the upper lash, as well as a third of the way along the lower lashes (smudge lower line slightly with a cotton bud). Take a neutral lip pencil to outline a colour in the whole lip – and now for the clever bit – use a red gloss or semi sheer red lippy. Red will take the look from day to night, and if it's glossy it won't look scary! Jane Iredale's Cherry Sparkle is one of our favourite reds. Enjoy the party!

My skin looks really flaky at this time of year. I use a good moisturiser but it's not helping. Help!

Skin is continually renewing itself, with fresh skin cells moving to the surface, and dead ones being shed daily. Sometimes this process of shedding needs a helping hand and that's where exfoliation comes in. It will help to clear and smooth the surface of skin, and will allow moisturiser to do a better job. Go gently, and only exfoliate a maximum of 2-3 times a week. We like exfoliators without harsh scratchy grains like Algotherm's Radiance Exfoliating Gel, which gently dissolves dead skin cells without the need for rubbing and irritating skin.
